MAN KILLED IN 'FRISCO STRIKE RIOT

Number of Others Wounded and Two of Them Are Likely to Succumb to Injuries.

(Special to the Times).
San Francisco, May 8.—This forenoon police men are guarding the approaches to the ferry, and a number of mounted officers are on duty at the car barns on Turk and Filmore streets, where a deadly battle took place last night. Up to 10 o'clock the streets were kept comparatively free.
Chief of Police Dinan has ordered that all persons carrying concealed weapons be arrested.
The police so far, however, have done little to check the rioters, their sympathy being obviously with the strikers.
Chief Dinan is quoted as saying last night that the police would shoot down any strike breakers starting any rioting from the cars.

In last evening's riot only two police men attacked the mob, the rest sitting idly by.
Thirteen strike breakers, but no strikers, were arrested.
The net results of yesterday's fight are:
James Walsh, strike sympathizer, dead.
Tom Buchanan, strike, dying.
Officer Harry Bauer, shot in the shoulder.
Detective Sergeant Bell, shot in the wrist.
A. Palm, shot in the neck and may die.
G. A. McNaughton, shot in the forehead.
Twenty others suffering from slight wounds.

MANY PROPERTIES CHANGE HANDS

ACTIVITY IN ALBERNI REALTY MARKET

Important Announcement is Expected After Visit of Canadian Pacific Officials.

The Alberni correspondent of the Times writes as follows:
The past week has been one of marked activity in the real estate market here. A number of sales have taken place, both of farms and of town lots. A noticeable feature in these transactions is that the purchasers are almost entirely gentlemen from Winnipeg or the Northwest, men whose names are a guarantee of shrewd successful business and who do not invest so largely without having every confidence in the Huff represented the riding in the local legislature, and was energetic in any proposition for the advancement of Alberni. At present the captain owns and commands a small steamer running out of Victoria.

Lots have all sold briskly at the new townsite, two choice lots in the best part of the town being sold for $2,100. It is reported that Mr. Marpole, of the C. P. R., accompanied by Mr. Gamble and Mr. Cartwright, will arrive here within a few days to
as to the location of the terminus at Alberni, and that shortly thereafter construction will be pushed forward on both ends of the railroad from Wellington to Alberni, while the surveys will continue the survey on towards Comox and Union. The announcement made recently by our Dominion M. P., Mr. Sloan, that the conditions of the Dominion subsidy had quite lately been altered to allow of the subsidy (which originally read for a road from Wellington to Union), being paid for a line from Wellington to Alberni and thence to Union, is a most important one and demonstrates the intention to place Alberni on the main line. Mr. Sloan's efforts in this matter will not go unappreciated in this part of his district.

THE NEW BLOCK.

Progress Being Made Towards Preparing An Up-To-Date Building.

Good progress is being made on the tearing down of the old premises formerly occupied by the Schell's Furniture store. An early start will be made on the new block, which is to occupy the premises.

The location is one of the best in the city, extending from Government street to Langley street, a new block to be erected by Mr. Mahon of Vancouver, will add to the business section of the city. The frontage on Government street is 45 feet, while on Langley street there is a frontage of 85 feet.

INDIANS UNSETTLED.

Cowichan Reserve Is Not Large Enough to Sustain Them.

"The Indians on the Cowichan reserve are said to be somewhat unsettled at present, and their white neighbors are a trifle uneasy regarding them. Since his return from London, where he interviewed King Edward, the late Captain has been influencing the tribe with fiery speeches.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING.

Trustees Will Probably Discuss Affiliation With Royal Institute To-Night.

Among the matters which will probably be discussed by the school trustees at a regular meeting of the board this evening the most important is that of affiliation with the Royal Institute of Learning. This will be introduced by the chairman of the board, Mr. J. H. Macdonald, who will also propose that the school be affiliated with the Institute, and that the school be opened at an early date.
Supt. Eaton will put before the board a suggestion that a trust inspector be appointed to enforce the new compulsory education, and he will also recommend that a regular medical inspection of school children be established. It is also likely that the question of a new school for the proposed additional school in Victoria West will be discussed.

WILSON CONVICTED.

After Nearly a Week's Trial Prisoner Found Guilty on First Count.

After almost a week the trial of J. T. Wilson, charged with committing a gross indecency with a young boy, was yesterday brought to a close as far as the taking of evidence was concerned. Following that, Wilson, who has conducted his own case, delivered his address, and was followed by the crown prosecutor, H. Dalhousie, K. C.
Judge Lampman, after dwelling on the enormity of the crime alleged, found the prisoner guilty, but deferred judgment until Thursday. There are still two other charges laid against Wilson similar to the one on which he was convicted.
In addition to these there are charges of a like character laid against L. Dodson and G. Macdonald, who are in jail awaiting their trial. The crimes are alleged to have taken place for the most part at the premises occupied by Dodson on Edmonton road. In answer to the decision he had come to as to the guilt of the prisoner, Judge Lampman dwelt on the conditions which seemed to have prevailed at this place where young boys congregated and were led astray.

VICTORIAN IN ROSSLAND.

Emil Pfendner, Keeper of Records for Grand Lodge, Is at Present There.

Saturday's Rossland Miner says: Emil Pfendner, keeper of records and seals for the grand lodge, Knights of Pythias, of Victoria, is in the city, and is the guest of Daniel Thomas. Mr. Pfendner has held the position of keeper of records and seals for the past twelve years, and has facts and figures regarding the order at his fingers' ends. He came up for the purpose of attending the meeting of the grand lodge, which will be in session on Wednesday and Thursday next at Nelson.

VICTIMS HAD NO CHANCE TO ESCAPE

DETAILS OF TERRIBLE TRAGEDY IN FRISCO

Insane Carpenter Spared Life of Girl Because She Resembled His Daughter.

San Francisco, May 8.—Walter C. Davis, the carpenter who in a fit of insanity yesterday shot and killed six persons with whom he resided in a boarding house conducted by the Bush family on Pierce street, when arrested after the terrible tragedy seemed dazed and did not realize what he had done. He merely said that he had been worried. The dead are:
Orson R. Bush, aged 57, his wife and their young son; W. S. Beard, a carpenter; M. E. Vinton, a surveyor; and Mrs. Lillian B. Carothers, an elderly woman.

Davis used a double-barreled shotgun. He arose soon after 5 o'clock, Arming himself, he shot his two roommates, then visited each room in turn, killing the occupants. He fancied that his victims had formed a plot to kill him and take his money.

One today escaped a girl 17 years old. Davis, pointed the gun and prepared to shoot her. Pausing, he said she resembled his daughter, and spared her life.

After killing Bush and Beard the man took a box of shells and walked into the hall, where he met and killed Mrs. Lillian B. Carothers, an elderly woman. Then he killed Mrs. Orson Bush. M. E. Vinton was killed in bed.

Orson Bush had risen early to prepare coffee. He heard the shots and rushed upstairs, where he met and killed Mrs. Lillian B. Carothers, an elderly woman. Then he killed Mrs. Orson Bush. M. E. Vinton was killed in bed.

Officer Fred J. Staeglich heard two shots and opened the door. Davis pointed his gun at the policeman's breast and told him he should die. The officer escaped and met policeman Thomas E. Bolger. They made a second unsuccessful attempt to capture Davis. A shot was then turned in and Corporal Ferguson and six officers responded.

Staeglich and J. Quigley, a flagpole climber, engaged the fugitive in conversation, while Ferguson and Policeman Lewis phoned his name. The madman put up a terrific battle, in which Ferguson was bitten on the hand, but Davis was finally captured.

For stealing glass globes from graves in the cemetery and setting them for sale, a Northampton woman has been sent to prison for one month.

ANOTHER DRAFT FOR WORK POINT

MEN ARE ON WAY TO JOIN GARRISON HERE

A Body of Soldiers From Quebec Will Reach Victoria in a Few Days.

Another draft of men for Work Point barracks has left Quebec and will reach the city in a few days, coming by the C. P. R. Col. Holmes, D. O. C., has not been advised as to the exact number included in the draft which will go to reinforce the garrison at Work Point.
The last draft which came from the East for that purpose was made up of 25 men and 2 officers. It is impossible to say whether the present one is over that strength or under it.
There has been some difficulty ever since the recruiting was attempted on this side of the continent, and it has become serious obstacles in the way of it, which have resulted in comparatively few joining the colors at Work Point. Wages are high in industrial lines on the Pacific Coast, so that few men care to enlist at the comparatively small pay which the army offers when compared with the wages in other industries. Only the true born soldier came to join the force under these circumstances.
There is not an over supply of men on the coast, however, so that applications at the recruiting station were not very numerous. For a short time after the call was made for men there were quite a number offered themselves, but this soon changed and the number became small. For this reason it has become necessary for the militia department to bring the forces at Work Point up to strength by drafts from the East.

CITY SPORTSMEN HOLD MEETING

SPLENDID OUTLOOK FOR RACING HERE

Victoria Driving Club Organized and Will Hold Meet Next Month— Prizes Offered.

Day by day the enthusiasm of local horsemen is increasing as their plans to make Victoria one of the great racing centres along the coast are arriving at maturity. Last night at a largely attended meeting held at the Driford hotel, the Victoria horsemen organized themselves into an association to be known as the Victoria Driving Club.

The following officers were elected to control the new organized club:
President, D. R. Kerr, vice-president, J. E. Grey; 2nd vice-president, James Mitchell; secretary, W. C. Moresby; treasurer, R. F. Taylor; committee of management, D. E. Campbell, A. E. Wade, J. Sylvester, Ald. Henderson, J. S. H. Madison, L. Eaton, W. Millington and H. G. Wilson.

The immediate object of the newly formed club is to hold a race meet. It was at first thought that this could be arranged to take place in conjunction with the Victoria Day celebrations. Owing to the fact, however, that a very good natured fight was to be when the driving track will be laid down, this idea had to be abandoned. From information which has come to hand it can now be announced that the meet will be held on either the 7th or the 15th of June.

To-day a committee appointed at last night's meeting is inspecting the track and a result of its inspection will be held before a meeting of the club to be held at the Driford on Saturday night. The date of the meet will then be officially announced.

The Victoria Driving Club is now in communication with all the other clubs throughout the province and along the Pacific Coast with a view to the selection of dates. It is hoped that the arrangement of dates in places near each other can be so selected as to dovetail with each other, so that horsemen during the summer months can tour with their animals and attend race meetings on consecutive dates and thus in some measure obviate the question of expense, which amounts up when race meets in the various centres are held on dates which are wide apart.

Local interest in the new organization is growing fast and the success of the enterprise is assured. Already the B. C. Saddlery Company has offered a complete set of handsome track harness as a prize for a driving contest. Hotel proprietors in the city have also come into line with the undertaking and have promised to subscribe a special purse. Numbers of prominent merchants have offered prizes for competition among British Columbia horsemen. Irrespective of all these presentation prizes, large stakes will be offered and plans for the initial meet are so far advanced, and the club has met with such cooperation, that the event is certain to prove a bumper one.

At the meet to be held next month there will be two harness and four galloping events. These both classes of events will be entered to and it is fully anticipated that entries will be received from all over the coast. C. A. Harrison, who is taking a deep interest in the welfare of the club, is in communication with Vancouver with a view to ascertaining from the Territorial City proposals to hold its first British Columbia circuit race meet. It is hoped that the two leading British Columbia circuits will be able to work in harmony to promote the welfare of racing in the province.

THE HAYWOOD MURDER TRIAL

APPLICATION BY DEFENCE DENIED

Judge Declines to Grant Motion For Bill of Particulars—Case Opens Thursday.

(Special to the Times).
Boise, Idaho, May 8.—Judge Woods this morning denied the application for a bill of particulars made by the defence in the case of Haywood, charged with murder.
The trial will now proceed on May 9th, the date fixed for the hearing. Had the motion been granted there would probably have been considerable delay in the opening of the case, as the defence would likely have asked for an adjournment until additional witnesses could be secured. The Idaho statutes do not provide for bills of particulars, consequently the matter was left entirely with the judge, who has denied the application.
William D. Haywood, secretary-treasurer of the Western Federation of Miners, is under indictment jointly with Charles H. Moyer, president of the Federation, and George A. Pettibone, former member of the executive committee for the murder of former Governor Frank Steunenberg. The defendants are to be tried separately, the case against Haywood being called first.

SHERIFF WANTS JOHN RIPLINGER

IS DECLARED TO BE AN EMBEZZLER

Former City Controller of Seattle Believed to Have Fled to Honduras.

(Special to the Times).
Seattle, May 8.—John Riplinger, ex-city controller and candidate on the Republican ticket a little more than a year ago for mayor, is declared an embezzler.
So far as the city authorities have been able to check up his accounts, he was short $4,000 when he left the controller's office in March, 1905. The shortage will probably reach $20,000.
The storm broke when a telegram came from Los Angeles that indicated Riplinger has gone to Honduras, where no extradition can reach him.
Last night a warrant was issued and the sheriff is telegraphing to all important American cities and to foreign consuls in South America a description of the man whom friends referred to here for years as "Old John Riplinger, as honest as the day is long."

AWARD CONTRACT FOR HOSPITAL

ACCEPT TENDER OF GRIBBLE AND SKENE

Addition to St. Joseph's Hospital Will Prove Boon to Entire City.

The contract for the large addition to the St. Joseph's hospital has been let by the architects, Messrs. Gribble and Skene, the contractors, who built the new C. P. R. Empress hotel. The price is in the neighborhood of $120,000, and it is the biggest contract let in Victoria since the erection of the Empress hotel, was let to the same firm. Work will be commenced immediately and the contractors expect that the new wing will be complete by February 1st, next year.
The plans for the building have been filed at the city building inspector's office and will most likely be accepted without change, during the next few days. They provide for a commodious wing, absolutely fire-proof and finished in the most modern fashion. The front of the new building, which, although designated a wing or addition is really a finer and more imposing structure than the present building, will face Humboldt street. There will be four floors and all, with the exception of the ground floor will be connected with the old building by passage ways. On the third and fourth floors there will be seventeen private rooms and the total number of these rooms in the institution will be thereby increased to forty-five. No effort will be spared to equip the new building, when complete, with the most modern devices pertaining to the conduct of hospitals and "diet kitchens" and "sun-rooms" are included in the specifications. When the new wing is finished the hospital will have about double the accommodation for patients that it has at present and the staff will, of course, have to be increased in proportion.

The record of building permits issued by the city building inspector, shows that considerably less than $100,000 has been expended in buildings and additions within the fire limits since the first of the year. The contract for the hospital addition brings the total up to over $200,000, which is considered by real estate men and others as an excellent showing and an indication that the city's prosperity. The three largest contracts let for buildings during the year, excluding the hospital work, were those for the addition to the Victoria Phoenix Brewery, the Pacific Club and the alterations to the St. John's building.

POLICE STOP FIGHT.

Chicago, May 7.—A prize fight was stopped and fifty-three persons were arrested last night when the police raided the Silver Swan Pleasure Club, Grand avenue and Eickler street. The raid is taken as an indication that the administration does not intend to allow prize fights to be held. The principals were released on bonds of $400, while spectators were released on $200 bonds.

TWO DEAD; THREE WOUNDED.

Middlesboro, Ky., May 8.—In a pitched battle on Sugar Island creek, the result of an old feud, John Howard and Martin Green were killed, Eleanor Howard fatally shot and Jim and George Green badly wounded.

EIGHTEEN KILLED IN MINE.

Johannesburg, Transvaal, May 5.—An explosion occurred to-day at the Modderfontein gold mine. Fifteen whites and fifteen natives were killed.

VATICAN GARDEN THREATENED.

The Pope Refuses to Spend Money to Restore Wall.

Rome, May 6.—A few weeks ago 100 feet of the wall of the quadrangular garden next to the Vatican museum fell, and yesterday the Pope was informed that the whole of the surrounding wall threatened to fall, which would mean destruction of the best specimen of Renaissance garden existing. The pontiff asked how much money would be necessary to restore the wall, and was informed that it would cost about $25,000. The Pope said that in view of the financial condition of the church he thought it would not be right to spend so much for a restoration, no matter how valuable the garden is.

The wall in the Vatican gardens, which is specially threatened, is that which overhangs the Zitella, of Madonna Alley. Part of it has already fallen and in so doing destroyed a beautiful Renaissance garden, surrounded by walls about 650 to 1,000 feet long.

THE CONTROL OF IRISH AFFAIRS

COUNCIL BILL NOW BEFORE COMMONS

Mr. Birrell Outlines Measure—Supremacy of the Imperial Parliament Safeguarded.

London, May 7.—In the House of Commons this afternoon, Chief Secretary for Ireland, Mr. Birrell, introduced the Irish council bill, the object of which is to "provide for the establishment and functions of an administrative council" at Dublin.

Mr. Birrell believed that the present system of administration of Ireland was founded on principle or economy. It had been switched off from the great current of the national life of the people. Under the proposed new scheme the Irish members of parliament would continue to sit at Westminster, but they would have no more profitable channel for their ineffectiveness in managing local affairs at home. It was the intention of the bill to establish a representative administrative council.

consisting of 32 elected and 24 nominated members, the latter to be nominated the first year by the King and thereafter by the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland. Elective members would be elected on the Local Government Board franchise. The under-secretary to the Lord Lieutenant would be an ex-officio member of the council, which would have complete control of the power vested in the departments to be handed over to its care. The president of the council would be appointed by the council itself, and the chief secretary would have the right to attend the meetings. If the existing officers of the departments were retired by the council they must be given full pensions. No exercise of the power vested in the departments would be controlled by resolutions of the council, and the supremacy of the Imperial Parliament.

Would Be Safeguarded by the power given to the Lord Lieutenant to reserve his consent to any resolution of the council and the eight departments which would be made subject to the new council.

The departments coming under the control of the proposed Irish council would be the local government, department of agriculture, congested districts boards, commissioners of public works, national education and intermediate education, inspectors of the reformatory and industrial schools and the registrar general. The supreme court of judicature, the Royal Irish Constabulary, Dublin Metropolitan Police, the land commission and the prison board would remain under the control of the Imperial authorities.

Mr. Birrell went on to explain that the council, being elected on a local government basis, would be elected for three years and would be authorized to elect, as many commissioners as it pleased. But it must establish finance, public works, education and local government committees, the chairman of which would be appointed by the Lord Lieutenant. It was proposed to establish a new education department for primary and secondary education to be placed under the control of the council.

For the financial purposes of the eight departments, a certain annual sum to be fixed by the parliament every five years, would be charged to the consolidated fund and paid into a Separate Irish Fund.

The present cost of the eight departments was estimated at a little over $15,000,000 yearly. The government proposed to hand over in addition the sum of $2,500,000 yearly, of which $1,500,000 must be devoted to public works and the general development of the country. Including other statutory payments the Irish fund, therefore, would amount to a little over $20,000,000 annually, would be charged to the consolidated fund and paid into a Separate Irish Fund.

Mr. Birrell said that the bill was a success, then, I dare say, it might pay the way. If on the other hand it is a failure, it might present considerable obstacles, but surely the Unionists will not refuse Ireland an opportunity for trying her people to acquire any right they ought to possess, because if the measure proves successful it will be in the way of Home Rule and will have been a success.

Mr. Balfour, the opposition leader, characterized the bill as a "grossly unfair" measure. He said that the bill would be a failure, as the Irish members of parliament would still be unable to interfere in English and Scottish affairs, while the House of Commons would be unable to say a word in the analogous business. The measure could not legitimately relieve the aspirations of the Irish, and would cause confusion in the administration and create a real grievance on the Scottish and English.

ject which was desired in connection with the government of Ireland which would be tightened by the extraordinary proposals of the Irish secretary. More preposterous suggestions regarding local government had never been made. They would cause collisions with the authorities and inevitably involve a breakdown of the whole scheme. The proposals would satisfy neither the English nor the Scotch, and still less the Irish.

John Redmond, the Irish leader, said that until he and his colleagues had time to consider every feature of the bill and elicit Irish public opinion in regard to it, no one could expect him to give either a deliberate or a final judgment. Mr. Gladstone proposed to solve the problem by the full and frank concession of self-government and autonomy to the Irish people, but what the present government offered was not Home Rule, but a substitute for it. The Irish still demanded Home Rule, and rested their claim on their historic right to the administration of a century of British government of Ireland.

As a Home Ruler, Mr. Redmond thought they were justified in regarding the scheme consistent with the maintenance of their aspirations, and he believed that the scheme regarding administrative control to Irish public opinion over the matters which the bill dealt with. He said he did not like the nominated element.

Mr. Redmond agreed with Mr. Balfour that the government's object was to give a large representation to the minority, who were suspicious regarding the action of the majority, then he would be perfectly willing to accept the democratic principle. He believed that the minority's fears were honest, but groundless. There were no limitations to which he would not go to meet these fears.

Mr. Bryce Silent.

Washington, May 7.—Ambassador Bryce, who as Chief Secretary for Ireland was really the father of the Irish bill, although it is perfected by his successor, Mr. Birrell, expressed great interest in its provisions. Prior to his appointment to Washington Mr. Bryce gave almost undivided attention to the measure, and every word recalled incidents in connection with its preparation, which began just about one year ago. In view of his present position, however, he said to-day that it is quite impossible for him to express any opinion or criticism whatever concerning it.

J. O'Callaghan's Views.

Boston, May 7.—John O'Callaghan, national secretary of the United Irish League of America, said to-day with reference to the Irish bill: "The only thing apparent from the provisions of the bill as described thus far is that it means the downfall of Dublin Castle and anti-Irish institutions. With castle government, as known in Ireland, destroyed, complete Home Rule, to which this measure was intended as a stepping stone, is assured."

Disappointing.

Philadelphia, May 7.—Michael J. Ryan, national president of the United Irish League of America, to-day said: "The terms of the Irish bill are very disappointing and seem to be far removed from Home Rule. To intelligently discuss the measure, would require a full reading of it and an intimate knowledge of the complex system of government which afflicts Ireland. Our civil affairs are now managed by 67 irresponsible and independent bureaus; many of them directed by sub-committees from London department offices, thus making her as Lord Dufferin said, the highest taxed, and worst governed land in the world."

FRANCO-JAPANESE NEGOTIATIONS

Understanding May Be Reached Guaranteeing Interests in Far East.

Paris, May 7.—Official confirmation has been obtained by the Associated Press of the report that negotiations are in progress between France and Japan looking to an understanding mutually guaranteeing the political and commercial interests of the two powers in the Far East. The conference on the subject has been going on in Tokyo, and is progressing harmoniously, but some time will probably elapse before they are concluded.

France has recognized that her possessions in Indo-China and Annam as well as her commercial interests in the Far East would be vulnerable in the event of war, and deemed it wise to conclude an arrangement with Japan, which is willing to guarantee French interests in return for the recognition of the Japanese claims in Korea and Manchuria.

At the same time, it is explained, the entente will be strictly limited to the maintenance of the status quo. It does not touch China, and has nothing resembling an offensive or defensive feature. Nevertheless, taken in connection with the Russo-Japanese understanding, which shortly will be concluded, and the Anglo-Russian agreement, both of which are supplementary to the Anglo-Japanese and Franco-Russian alliances and the Anglo-French, the entente creates a combination in the Far East and a new grouping of the powers in Europe of extreme significance. It constitutes in effect another signal evidence of the success of Great Britain's diplomatic manoeuvring for the isolation of Germany.

The French press has received with general satisfaction the announcement that negotiations are in progress between France and Japan, looking to an understanding guaranteeing the political and commercial interests of the two powers in the Far East, as relieving France of the danger of loss of Indo-China and as serving all nations with interest in the Far East. The papers also recognize in the approaching understandings a triumph for British diplomacy. The Petit Parisien says it considers that the entente involves Japan's renunciation of the new Munro doctrine of "Asia for the Asiatics." The Gaulois, while maintaining that the agreement is not directed against any particular country, contends that it constitutes "a warning for the power which is excluded." The Gaulois is exercised least the entente create iniquities in America and fasten upon the United States the same "protection" while the Entente says it fears that the new combination against Germany will not serve the cause of peace.

THE CYNIC

We are told, not on the authority of naturalists of repute we admit, that certain reptiles when infuriated turn their fangs against themselves and encompass their own death. The Colonist on Sunday morning printed a bitter personal attack on one of the representatives of British Columbia in the Senate of Canada. The spasm of rage has evidently not yet subsided, because for want of another subject upon which to vent its spleen, enlarged beyond normal dimensions by the recollection of futile ambitions, our contemporary thus raves at itself: "How such people must hate themselves. There must be such a nasty feeling engendered by the spirit of cynicism that those who indulge in it must live in an atmosphere of mental nausea. They are like little cur dogs, which get behind a fence and bark violently at everything and everybody that passes by. They are like carrion crows, which go around on search of something particularly unpleasant. They are like slimy snakes, which crawl around in the hope of being able to find some place into which they can thrust their stings. Sometimes in the order of an incurable Providence, such people get a chance to bark and sting in print. They hurt no one but themselves, and the more they bark and the more they sting the more they are despised."

IT IS MARCHING ON.

It is beginning to appear as if the old age pension idea cannot be curbed or checked. As we have already pointed out, Germany has a pension scheme in operation of limited scope, but which is accomplishing a great deal for the relief of a deserving but unfortunate class of her teeming population. France is greivously with the question and will assuredly adopt some measure that will go far, farther than that of her neighbors the Teutons for the succor of the aged portion of her people. Two of the states of the Australian Commonwealth lead the whole world in making provision for the old age of their citizens, without any restrictions whatever, except comparative affluence. New Zealand is at the head of the state philanthropic procession, leading the world in this as in all social problems. Great Britain has established the nucleus of a fund which will be the basis of an old-age pension scheme, provided another party does not come into power of reactionary tendencies, which is not at all probable. In Canada the question has not yet passed the academic point, but there is little doubt that now the subject has been introduced by Sir Richard Cartwright, one of the Ministers of the Crown, it will again be introduced and will be continued to be discussed until something tangible results. The undemocratic democracy to the south of us is the one advanced community in the world that lags behind in this matter of making provision for the declining years of the aged and infirm. This condition of affairs may be partly due to a doubt respecting federal as opposed to state jurisdiction. Evidently the Empire State of New York has concluded that it must set a salutary example to the other states of the union, as the representative of Brooklyn in the assembly at Albany has introduced an old-age pension bill, which provides that every man or woman over the age of sixty years who has no income and is incapable of working to produce an income shall receive assistance to the extent of twelve dollars a month. In explaining the purpose of his measure, the representative in question stated that in the state there are over sixty thousand people who have reached the span of life at which they ought to be in receipt of state assistance. "Think," he said, "of the hundreds of old people now in poor-houses who ought to be living in their own homes on a small pension from the state." Contrast this state of affairs in a wealthy country like the United States with the conditions in Germany, in comparison a poverty-stricken land, where there is scarcely a person but possesses all the necessities of life free from all the degrading influences of pauperism.

The restrictions to be imposed by the state of New York are copied principally from the law at present in force in New Zealand. Applicants for pensions must have resided continuously in the state for twenty-five years. No person who has been convicted of a crime shall be eligible. The law will be placed upon wide descriptors and upon all who have neglected to properly provide for their families. No person who has not been of good moral character and sober habits, between the ages of fifty and sixty years, a period of life at which all should have reached the age of discretion, shall be considered as worthy of having their applications considered. Thus the scheme is designed to accomplish a great moral reform as well as to do justice to the industrious and deserving. There will be the usual safeguards against fraud by the nominal transfer of property and other subterfuges familiar to the sharper, and which, if rumor is to be credited, have been frequently practiced upon the federal government for the purpose of swelling the huge list of those who are drawing bounties on account of the civil war.

WHEN DOCTORS DIFFER.

As readers of the newspapers are aware, the doctors have been differing again—and great is the turmoil they have created in the world. We allude of course, to the controversy that has long raged, and which promises to continue while that much abused, and by many greatly distrusted, article, alcohol, continues to be manufactured and mingled with the various beverages we consume. Very little attention has been paid to the subject in British Columbia, probably because it is assumed we have fixed and inflexible opinions on the matter as exhibited in the per capita consumption of liquor of various brands by the population of the province. Although that idea must be considered as to some extent controverted by the vote cast when the prohibition plebiscite was taken. Be that as it may, our readers are doubtless aware that a certain number of medical men in Great Britain recently issued a manifesto with respect to the virtues of alcohol when taken in moderation. They held that it was beneficial alike to the persons when in good health and when afflicted by fleshy ills, provided the limits of discretion were not transgressed. Of course this pronouncement created an uproar and a contrary expression of opinion. The advocates of total abstinence attended to that. Now, the question has been raised as to the anti-theoreticians. Why did they affix their signatures to the mischief-breeding document at all? Why did they, experienced men as they are and of discretion beyond question, raise the issue, when they might just as well have gone on practicing in accordance with their belief, leaving others of the profession of a contrary mind to do the same thing? It is suspected that there was a political plot behind the whole thing, and that if it could only be unearthed, the world would be greatly enlightened. Finally we have an explanation from the lawyer who drew up the document, and after the manner of a good many legal statements, it does not seem to convey a completely satisfactory explanation. He says he signatories had no thought of politics, that the thing arose out of a dinner-table discussion, and the original draft was much stronger than that ultimately published. As it was carried from one physician to another for his signature it underwent many modifications. This one was for toning it down; the next was for heightening it; a third was for fine distinctions between malt liquors and spirits; a fourth, a Scotsman, insisted upon a particular reference to whiskey and water, and so on. At last, so great was the difference of opinion in detail that it was agreed to reduce the now bulky defence of alcohol to a brief general statement to which none of the signers could possibly object. Many more signatures might have been had if the word "harmless" had been substituted for "beneficial." However, it was too late now to make the change and out came the manifesto with six hundred names to its credit.

It is interesting to note that the signatories to the manifesto were not all of the same opinion as to the usefulness of alcohol. Some of them seem to be sorry they spoke. Doubtless they had never anticipated the terrific storm and it took them by surprise. Some even began to apologize in a mild way. "I would certainly not have signed it," said Sir William Gowers, "if I had known that it originated with the laity" and "I certainly thought," said Mr. Jonathan Hutchinson, "Mr. Williams was a doctor. I was also under the impression that Sir Lyster Brunton had signed the declaration when it was presented to me." "I might say," said another of the signers, "that had the drafting of the document been left with me I would have made it less general in its meaning." These apologies are all very well, but no one was obliged to sign the document, and, moreover, if it had not "originated with the laity," would it therefore have been truer? This, from one of the doctors, is more to the point: "I don't care a rap who it originated with. It makes no difference to me whether Mr. Williams is a medical man or not, so long as I am putting my name to a scientific truth. . . . I signed because I do not think the medical profession ought to describe alcohol universally as a 'poison.' It is, no good telling people a lie like that in order to frighten the few to whom it is a poison into total abstinence."

Some of the arguments produced in England and in this country for and against alcohol are instructive, says the New York Sun. One notable authority on nutrition is said to go so far as to deny that alcoholic beverages have anything to do with gout, an opinion which will perplex the experienced. He says he once had a patient, a woman, who was a martyr to gout but never touched a drop, while her husband, a confirmed teetotaler, never suffered at all. Still, there was a subtle connection between the drink and the gout, which the doctor explains as follows: "Every time this woman's husband came home drunk she had a violent attack of gout. I always knew when he had been taking too much, for his wife generally came to the hospital the next day. This could be easily accounted for. She was so strongly opposed to drink that her anger and resentment at seeing her husband under the influence of drink would simply overcome her, her digestion would naturally be affected and gout would be the result."

This may be well enough for married men, but it is a poor consolation to those who have no wives to bear the consequences of their dissipation. We shall never be satisfied till the medical men have declared by manifesto that alcohol is beneficial to all gouty bachelors.

Sometimes we laugh at the peculiar ideas of propriety current in American courts of justice. And yet there are judges on the other side who draw the line and draw it sharply. For example, Judge Lueders, of Cincinnati, whose conception of what is becoming in the fair sex must surely be antiquated, spoke as follows to a witness who appeared before his court in what is technically known as a "peek-a-boo" waist, an article of apparel that is quite common in the United States according to the evidence of reliable and observant authorities: "That won't do here!" remarked the judge. "You cannot come to this court unless you wear all of your clothing. I will continue this case so that you can get out of here quickly and get on a decent waist. When you come for trial do not have that kind of a waist on. If you do I will fine you to the very limit of the law." Afterwards the judge said: "I am opposed to the peek-a-boo waist. Woman's crowning glory is her modesty, and I do not think that peek-a-boo waists have any crown on them. I do not think that exposure of that kind is of any benefit to the health of the wearer, either."

Ottawa Citizen.—It is but right that the closing of the session should be taken advantage of to pay a tribute to the excellent work done for the government and the country, since the Premier's departure, by the Minister of Finance. During a period of enormous stress he has shown himself a parliamentary general. His term of leadership has been marked by skillfulness in the handling of business, by splendid tact in the discussion of difficult questions, and by an attention to duty which would have laid many an ordinary man prostrate. His conduct of the proceedings of the House of Commons has been such as to raise him still higher in the affection of his party, to win him the respect of the opposition, and to convince the country at large that he was the "right man in the right place." Mr. Fielding has worked very hard and well deserves the holiday which he is about to take. He will carry with him the best wishes of every member of parliament for a restful period away from the turmoil of office and the cares of state, though it is to be feared that, like his chief, wherever he goes the interests of Canada will be present with him, and that moments which other men would devote to recreation will be spent in the service of his country.

To the Editor.—Just a word in reply to Capt. Wolley's letter, published in the Times of the 2nd inst., regarding the service to Sidney and the Gulf Islands. Re the railway I have nothing to say, but the steamer service I know something of, and as his writings are published I think it only just that the public should know some of the facts of the case. I am not a great writer of world-wide fame, neither do I intend to continue further discussion of this matter in the public press. ## CONFERENCE AT WESTMINSTER LECTURES HEARD AT SUMMER SCHOOL

Rev. Dr. Jordan of Queen's University Address: Divine on Various Questions.

The conference on religion and theology held annually in connection with the Presbyterian synod opened on Tuesday morning in the West Presbyterian church, New Westminster.

One of the main features of the meeting will be six lectures on the value of the Bible as a teacher, by the Rev. Prof. Jordan, D. D., of Kingston, Ont. This paper gave rise to a very lively discussion, and while all by no means agreed with all the learned professor brought forward, one and all appeared to be struck with his candor, learning and fairness in handling this difficult and intricate subject. Only the shortness of time brought the session to a close. The evening session was given up to a lecture on Japan by Rev. Prof. Robinson, of Revelstoke, showed that all were interested and edified.

duty as a teacher in an orthodox church. In concluding his address Dr. Taylor stated that in the paternal government of the church the ecclesiastical slipper and cat-o-nine-tails have not been much in evidence of late, but were nevertheless still in existence. It was necessary that they should be openly destroyed. Dr. Taylor said in conclusion: "When heresy appeared our fathers judged the man; let us judge the thought, ever remembering that the worst evil from which any church can suffer is doubt hidden through fear." During the afternoon session the Rev. R. J. Wilson, M. A., Vancouver, gave a most interesting and well thought-out paper on "The Self-Portrait of Jesus." The whole lecture, though lengthy, was listened to with wrapt attention, and the discussion which followed, led by Rev. J. A. Logan, of Eburne, and Rev. J. R. Robinson, of Revelstoke, showed that all were interested and edified.

SHE HAD EXPERIENCE

Health Commissioner Darlington of New York, told a reporter of the New York Tribune the other day that a comely young woman applied at one of the hospitals who wanted to learn nursing. "Do you think you want to learn nursing?" the head nurse asked. "Oh, yes," the young woman answered. "Have you had any experience at all?" "Rather! Two of my brothers play football and father has an automobile."

"A BELIEVER IN GREAT EMPIRES"*A. J. BALFOUR AND COLONIAL PREMIERS

Brilliant Function at the Albert Hall, London, Described as "Without Parallel."

"Draw now the threefold knot firm in the ninefold bands." While they are about it the club might as well quote their Kipling as it was written. In the handsome souvenir of their banquet last night their revised version reads, "Draw not," etc., which we take it, is precisely the opposite of what both the writer and the club had in mind. But this is the only crumpled roseleaf in the memory of a very memorable entertainment. If social hospitality can draw the knots which link the Motherland to her colonies tighter, the club can congratulate itself on having given a hearty tug at the strings, says the Pall Mall Gazette.

"An entertainment without parallel," said Mr. Balfour, in expressing his acknowledgments to those who were responsible for the organization of the brilliant entertainment last night, among whom Sir Herbert Maxwell and Sir William Evans Gordon, probably had no small share, and, as he must have a wide experience of successful entertainments of the kind, the average critic is in danger of running riot in superlatives. Imagine the vast arena of the Albert Hall covered by a floor carpeted in the colors of a huge Union Jack (which perhaps was overdoing it, for one does not care to have the flag of one's country underfoot) laid out with the most exquisite roses and carnations.

Excellent Stage-Manager. Picture every box in both tiers a pretty dining-room and the upper galleries thronged with ladies and gentlemen—the "great unfeeling" members of Parliament, who had fared satisfactorily, dubbed them—who had come to listen to the speeches. If your imagination is equal to the task, you will still hardly have an adequate idea of the bewildering splendor of the scene, because the whole affair was from first to last so excellently stage-managed. It was a fine sight to see the principal guests passing down the entire length of the high hall between a double row of the King's Colonials to be welcomed by Mr. Balfour, as the president of the club. Most of the guests, however, of the "Patriotic Party" Lord and Lady Lansdowne, Lord and Lady Londonderry, Lord and Lady Salisbury, to enumerate them all would be tedious—ran the gamut.

Mrs. Austen Chamberlain. Indeed, had to face it. Her husband, who only too himself away from the House at the last moment, reached his seat fortuitously, but unashamed, in morning dress. It must have been rather a trying ordeal for the guests of the evening, or at any rate for the ladies of their party, but they came out of it with flying colors.

General Botha looked for a moment like showing the white feather for the first time in his life, but the superb courage and devotion of his sister and daughter pulled him through. He has reason to be proud of them, because none of the great ladies have been so well with more graceful dignity. Only Dr. Jameson fell out. Possibly he developed stage fright at the last moment and elected to offer up Dr. Smitt in his stead. Most of the men wore decorations, and the ladies were ablaze with jewels. The picture the hall made when the brilliant company took their seats was, in Mr. Balfour's words, "without parallel." It is best to leave it at that.

Mr. Chamberlain's letter. There was another great scene when, immediately after the royal toast, Mr. Balfour requested Sir Joseph Lawrence to read a letter. The name of the writer brought a company of three thousand people to its feet, waving their handkerchiefs and napkins. Yet there are those who say that Mr. Joseph Chamberlain is a spent force in public life. The letter was in its author's best style, conveying home truths plumbly. The chairman's speech of welcome to the Premier was in his best ready delivery.

A Story for the Season

THIS is the season of the year when "the call of the wild" comes to every one; and when a story dealing with the forest and its fragrant pines is as welcome as the flowers of May.

In a few days the TIMES will commence a serial which will be read with avidity by all who love out-of-doors.

THE SILENT PLACES
BY STEWART EDWARD WHITE

Is the story of a great man hunt, in which two Hudson's Bay Company agents follow a defaulting Indian Trapper with a grim determination past the Arctic circle, into the great northern wilderness, until both fugitive and pursuers stand face to face with starvation.

Stewart Edward White has made the field of forest fiction his own. Many have written the romance of the sea, but only Mr. White has known how to give us the real spirit of the woods and picture it in its ever-changing moods. He is the poet of the pine wilderness, and the pages of his books breathe an outdoor freshness as bracing as life among the trees themselves.

"An enchanting tale, full of the life of the forest and hallooing wood, with picturesque figures of striving men in the background."—Philadelphia Press.

"It is a wholesome story, full of snow, pluck and endurance, with gleams of humor, touches of philosophy and plenty of courage."—Literary Digest.

Peace Reigns Again in the French Cabinet.

Paris, May 7.—The dissensions in the Clemenceau cabinet, evidently have at least been temporarily patched up. When parliament reassembled to-day the attitude of the moderate republicans was more friendly and the prevailing impression was that the ministry would successfully defeat the assault planned by the members of the extreme left, supported by a section of the Radical Socialists, under the leadership of M. Poincaré.

HE IS CORRECT

DR. HAMILTON PROVES THAT PILES ARE CAUSED BY CONSTIPATION AND STRONG CATHARTICS.

Knowing the frequency with which people suffer from this ailment, Dr. Hamilton made an exhaustive study into the cause of piles.

He found that the lower part of the bowels is like a network of blood-vessels, and if subjected to persistent pressure, a section will bulge out and form what is commonly known as piles.

The only effective mode of curing this trouble is the regular use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which can be taken before retiring. Next day will bring wonderful relief.

"I suffered up to about the limit of human endurance with piles," writes Miss Lueders, from Cornwall, Ont. "I was employed in a factory here, but for a while had to give up work till I got better of this trouble. I read in the Montreal Herald about Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and after using them for two weeks was cured. I can readily recommend these pills very highly; there are none better. They at once relieve and prevent a constipated condition of the bowels, and from my experience can be depended upon as a perfect safeguard against piles. Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Manaké and Butternut, I am sure, would be a benefit to every girl or woman."

"Take Dr. Hamilton's Pills and your system will be regenerated, revitalized, and made proof against disease."

Good for men, excellent for women, and most effective for children. All ages and both sexes find Dr. Hamilton's Pills a "marvelous medicine." Although active, they do not gripe or cause inconvenience, still they cleanse and purify the system, thereby maintaining a high standard of health. Sold by all dealers, 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1.25, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

ALPINE CLIMBERS KILLED.

Swiss Alps, Switzerland, dispatch says: Six tourists started to climb the Spiez mountain 6,417 feet high, but lost their way and got on the Blättliberg, a spur on the west of the Spiez. Seeing their mistake they determined to turn back and started sliding down.

The two in front soon saw that the situation was dangerous and shouted to the others to stop. They themselves, however, were carried by their impetus over a precipice and fell 500 feet and were killed.

Canon Cosgrave Says Church of England is Deeply Interested in Western Canada.

Canon W. F. Cosgrave, vicar of West Hartlepool, England, one of the canons of Durham cathedral, arrived in the city and is a guest at the Royal Alexandra, says the Winnipeg Free Press. The object of Canon Cosgrave in coming to the western portion of Canada was stated by him to a representative of the Free Press as follows:

"The Church of England has become alive to the immense work which must be done in Canada, in order to keep pace with the development of the country, in supplying the communion of the Church of England, who come to Canada with religious ordinances. For many years the Church of England has been deeply interested in the work of the church in Canada. There was indeed never a time when this was not the case. At the present time, however, it is felt in England that this is an important factor in the development of the country. Colonists are coming in larger numbers than ever was previously the case. An increasing proportion of those coming from Europe are from Great Britain, and I understand that it is the wish of the Canadian people that this should be the case. In view of this, the clergy of the Church of England are desirous that the mother church should do all that is possible to provide for the necessities of the church life of the British people who come to Canada. They are anxious to secure as reliable information as possible with reference to the country."

"Under these circumstances, I secured permission from the Bishop of Durham to come to Canada and also made arrangements with the Bishop of Ontario to spend several months within the bounds of his diocese. My plan is to spend a few weeks in certain of the parishes where the clergy may desire to leave on vacation. In this manner I hope to gain that knowledge of conditions as they are in the country, which I could not obtain in the course of a journey through the western provinces."

"Apart from the question of religious ordinances in the new country, I was anxious to see western Canada for the benefit of the men who are constantly coming to me in England asking for advice in reference to immigration. Those inquiries have become exceedingly numerous during the past few years. On the steamer coming out with me, there were a score of young men from my own immediate vicinity. When I get back home I expect that I will be somewhat better prepared to give advice to these young people who may come to me for advice."

Durham cathedral, with the work of which Canon Cosgrave is identified, is one of the most famous in England. The interior of the structure Dr. John Cosgrave described as "a masterpiece of architecture." The cathedral is 567 feet in length, 200 feet in extreme breadth, with a central tower 214 feet high, and two smaller ones 138 feet high, at the west end. The Norman church, which forms the main portion of the cathedral building, was built towards the close of the eleventh century. Numerous additions have been made from time to time, and decorated and perpendicular styles have been freely inserted as is usual in old churches. In recent years the interior structure was renovated, painted and gilded, with other mostly costly fittings, including a new organ built on the largest scale and of the finest tone.

The abbey still maintains its reputation for its choral services, which, in point of execution, are said to be at least equal to any in England.

WEDDING COINCIDENCE.

At a wedding held at the parish church, Beckenham, Kent, all those intimately associated with the ceremony, with the exception of the bride, bore the name of Church. The bridegroom was Francis William Church and the officiating clergyman was his father, Rev. S. C. Church, who was assisted by his son, a curate in Essex. The best man was a brother of the bridegroom, and a vicar near Bath. The organist was Mr. Church, another brother, who is organist at the parish church at Folkestone.

MAKES NEW BLOOD

THAT IS HOW DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS CURE THE COMMON AILMENTS OF LIFE.

Making new blood. That is just what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are always doing—actually making new blood. This new blood strengthens every organ in the body, and strikes straight at the root of anaemia, and the common ailments of life which have their origin in poor, weak, watery blood. Mrs. A. H. Sledge, of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., tells what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for her fourteen-year-old sister, Miss Annie Sledge, after other treatment had failed. She says: "For some years Annie had not been well. She would take spells of dizziness and headaches that would last for several days, and her whole body would become dry and hot as though she was burning up with fever. Her lips would swell until near the bursting point, and then when the fever would leave her the outer skin of the lips would peel off. She consulted with different doctors, but they did not succeed in curing her, and the trouble seemed gradually to be growing worse. Then we began giving her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and under this treatment she has recovered her health. The headaches and dizziness have gone, her color is improved, her appetite better, and she has had no further attacks of the fever which afflicted her. We are greatly pleased with what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for her, and recommend them to other sufferers."

It was the "rich, red blood" Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make which cured Miss Sledge. That is why these pills cure all common ailments like anaemia and debility, headaches and backaches, indigestion, rheumatism, neuritis, St. Vitus dance and the special ailments that prey on the health and happiness of girls and women of all ages. Get the genuine Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, with the full name on the wrapper around each box, at 25 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The world now produces 6,000,000 tons of beet sugar yearly.

JOCKEYS OF OLD ENGLAND.

It is a well-known fact that the annual income of eminent jockeys runs in several thousands of pounds. The annual fee stipulated by the rules of the turf is a handsome one. It is a well-known fact that the annual income of eminent jockeys runs in several thousands of pounds. The annual fee stipulated by the rules of the turf is a handsome one.

Tom Cannon, the famous ex-jockey and father of the renowned family of riders, said some years ago that the late Mr. "Abington" Baird handed him a cheque in advance of £15,000 for first call on his services for three years. Jockeys may have several big retainers for first, second, third and fourth call on them from different wealthy sportsmen. Owners who have just won a race, and probably useful trimmings in the way of big bets from the bookmakers, frequently hand their jockeys a cheque running into four figures.

There are some extreme instances recorded of very large presents to jockeys. When Wells, the famous jockey, won the Derby for the Duke of Devonshire, he was given a cheque for £10,000. When the Duke of Devonshire won the Derby for the Duke of Devonshire, he was given a cheque for £10,000.

Five thousand pounds may be set down as the standard present to the rider of a Derby winner, and that was the sum given to the jockeys of the Royal Horses, Persimmon and Diamond Jubilee, when they annexed the great classic race for His Majesty King Edward.

A list of the queer presents received by the celebrated jockey, Archer, would form an interesting reading, but the most peculiar was that of a pound of tea sent to him with a great deal of fuss by an old farmer for whom he had ridden the winner of a small race. Archer was given a cheque for £500 and £1,000 for a single race. He was quite commonplace occurrences with him in after years when the race and nobles sported in the land fought for his services.

Here is a funny story about him in this connection. One day the station-master at Newmarket said to the famous rider: "There's a pair here for you, Mr. Archer, with 2d. 3d. carriage to pay." Fred looked at the brown paper packet suspiciously and handed it back to the official with a knowing smile, saying that he was not going to part with money for a paltry box. It was not until a week after that the wealthy horseman was persuaded to accept and open the mysterious package. When he did so he discovered to his amazement a valuable gold-mounted riding whip, and wrapped round it were twenty-five crisp £10 notes. To the day of his death he never discovered who had sent the gift.

When Johnny Reiff, the little Yankee jockey, was riding in England he was a mere schoolboy whose chief delights were chocolates, cats and marbles.

So boyish-looking was this apple-cheeked midget that the aristocratic sportsmen used to pick him up in the paddock and hug and kiss him, much to his disgust. Yet this boy was earning not less than £10,000 a year in his profession. When the fact became known that he was fond of cats, highly-bred felines arrived at his house at the rate of a dozen a day. In addition, miscellaneous collections of strange pets were sent to his Newmarket address by admirers. These included tortois, squirrels, grass snakes, and hedgehogs.

DOHERTY RETIRING.

The most interesting event, says the London Daily Mail, associated with the opening day of the covered-court lawn tennis championships at Queen's Club occurred outside the playing arena. It was the regrettable announcement made by H. L. Doherty, the indoor as well as the outdoor champion, that he had decided to retire from the first-class competition play, at any rate for the coming season. This means that he will not defend his title at the conclusion of the present meeting.

Does it also mean that the hero of so many Wimbledon gatherings will not pit his racket against the winner of the "All-Comers", in the British grass championship? We are afraid it does. At any rate, here is what Mr. Doherty himself told the Daily Mail representative.

"I practically made up my mind before the championship last summer that, if I was lucky enough to win, I should not again defend the title, and now I have determined to give the title a rest at least for a year. Physical reasons have nothing to do with it. I am as fit to-day as I have ever been. Nor do I honestly think that my form has deteriorated. Since my return to England from the Riviera I have played a scratch match with my brother, and he told me afterwards there was nothing wrong with my game."

To test you, the reader, the little title-holder replied, "I'm not nearly so keen as I once was. I still think lawn tennis is a fine game, calling for much skill, a long apprenticeship, and a great deal more stamina than most people suppose. But it is a bit strain to play it consistently well, and requires unremitting concentration. I do not think I shall be any the worse for a twelve-month's rest. I have no present intention of retiring altogether, and I hope next year to play the arena again with renewed enthusiasm."

In view of the semi-official announcement that the Dohertys would be seen in the challenge round of the covered court doubles, the above intelligence will cause some surprise, and, among the many admirers of the redoubtable pair, unforgotten regret. H. L. Doherty has held the All-England singles championship undisturbedly since 1902 and the doubles championship on eight occasions. Last summer, it will be remembered, the brothers were defeated in the challenge round by S. H. Smith and P. L. Riley, who also proved their conquerors in 1904.

SWIMMING.

A CHAMPION'S CAREER.

C. W. Daniels' career as a swimmer may well be given as an example of perseverance and shows that it is principally the result of success or failure. Daniels, who started in the New York Athletic Club, did not rise to supremacy in a few weeks, as many have been led to believe. From the summer of 1902 to December, 1903, nearly a year and a half, he kept his nose to the grind, working faithfully, practicing continually, and seldom getting even a word of encouragement.

Alex. Moffet told him he would be a champion some day, if he would only stick, and he took his defeat with a philosophical "I'll have better luck next time."

This was that from his novice race, a seventy-five-yard swim in which he took second in November, 1902, until the Ladies' day carnival of the New York Athletic Club, on December 5th, 1903. Daniels did not have a victory to his credit. He "stuck" nevertheless, and the words of the great coach, an instructor at the Chicago Athletic Club, who started him on the road to fame, eventually came to him.

On that December day in which the young swimmer first showed a burst of speed, winning the 100-yard handicap in 1:08, he started on a triumphal march. He won the world's watermen's month later he broke his record, lowering the 250-yard figures from 3:17 to 3:15 and from then on there has hardly been a meet in which he has participated that has not yielded new laurels. At the Olympic championship, held in St. Louis in September, 1904, he placed to his credit a record open-water world's record of 2:41.5 and defeated in so doing Emil Rausch, the great German middle-distance swimmer and Frank Galley, of St. Francis, an Australian champion.

Then, on the 11th day, he increased his speed and in the same race he was considered good enough to go and try his luck against England's top-notchers. His trip was not an undisturbed success, but he made a very creditable showing, which no American swimmer had ever done before him.

But the climax of the record-toppling went on unchecked and on March 23rd, in the pool of the Missouri A. C., in St. Louis, he took 1:35 seconds more off his own record, putting up fifty-six seconds flat for the 100-yard standard.

Ahead, people smiled incredulously. Americans never could be relied upon. When the Olympic games at Athens brought together in the classic 100-yard swim, J. H. Doherty of England, Cecil Healy of Australia, Zoltan de Halmas of Austria, and C. M. Daniels, the latter was not conceded a chance. He won, though, and he won by yards, but even then there were whisperers of "duke." In England the New Yorker found means of confirming his victory. Three times again he defeated his vanquisher of England, and finally in a special 120-yard match, and finally in a scratch 150-yard event. Each race brought with it a new world's record and then Daniels swam an exhibition hundred in 0:57.3, wearing a full racing suit, and thus proving the possibility of his having done 0:56 in trunks.

At this time Daniels swam the trudgen, and in spite of the results which the crawl had shown, both here and abroad, he would not try it for fear of being placed the century mark at 61 seconds with the trudgen, and then succumbing to the importunities of his coaches, he began experimenting with the American crawl and the original crawl that he had seen Healey swim in England. Like nearly every one who made the change, he improved almost instantly, and on the 13th of January, 1906, the athlete's world was startled by the news that Dick Cavill's sensational performance of 58 seconds for the 100 had been forced into the background by an American. Daniels had done 0:57.3 for the distance.

At present the champion is taking a well-earned rest, but he will be in harness again soon, and will then attack the 75-yard and 80-yard standards which Wickham of Australia took from him this season, and Barney Keenan's greatest record that famous 2:28.25 for the furlong which every good swimmer has tried vainly to lower. Daniels' best indoor marks now are: 50 yards, 25 1-5 seconds; 100 yards, 56 seconds; 220 yards, 2 minutes; 320 1-2 seconds; 440 yards, 3 minutes; 55 seconds; half-mile, 11 minutes 45 seconds; mile, 23 minutes 40 seconds.

The young champion was born in Ohio twenty-two years ago. He is tall and slight, but of substantial frame, chested. He stands 6 feet 1 inch and weighs around 160 pounds in condition. Unlike most athletes, he does not alternate his periods of faithful training with long idleness; he leads a regular life, will take an occasional drink and smoke, and eats much of his fancy delicacies. He is also a great sportsman, and he often enters late hours, but he manages to get seven or eight hours a night of sound sleep. Daniels is very fond of outdoor sports.

LACROSSE.

CAPITALS IN ENGLAND.

Many of those who went to Lord's cricket ground one evening recently were doubtless surprised at the number of enthusiasts who were present to see the Canadian lacrosse team, representing the Capital Club of Ottawa, holders of the championship of Canada, play their first match. The remarkable following the game of Association football has the great strides made by hockey during the past few years, and the thoughts of many have been turned to cricket might have been ample reasons for a very sparse attendance on the practice ground. But far from it. Fully three thousand spectators were there to greet the Canadians and their opponents—a team representing the South of England.

Maybe there were some present drawn to Lord's out of mere curiosity, who really knew little of the most fascinating game of lacrosse, says the Pall Mall Gazette. Yet the spectators were enthusiastic to a degree, and if they did not all appreciate the finer points of the game, the applause which the Capitals scored their goals was by no means half-hearted. Fascinating, indeed, is the game, originated, we believe, by the North-American Indians, and perfected by the best teams in the South of England. The game has been played in this country for many years. It has never attained any great popularity, at least in the south of England. Exciting as it is, and the way the Canadians played it, it is easily second to no other pastime in a spectacular sense.

Yet we were told by those who were perhaps qualified to judge that we had not yet seen these Ottawa players at their best. It will have to be something remarkably fine to be superior to their play against the South. The fishermen surprised their many onlookers at the capital fight they made, but once in their stride, the visitors proved superior in attack and superb in defence. For the first twenty minutes of the match the English team held their own, the defence of C. H. Scott, in goal, and H. W. Hamer, secretary, alighted by the spectators as "Hammer," at cover-point, being particularly good. But once they had scored, the Capitals gradually drew away from their opponents, and were thoroughly deserving of their victory by six goals to nil.

Quite the outstanding feature of a most interesting game was the work of J. B. Hutton, the visiting goalkeeper. Time and again he had shots of a troublesome nature to stop, but he never appeared to be in danger of defeat. His skill in some of the most brilliant in the extreme. The game throughout was played at a great pace, and as is often the case, the scratch teams of English players were handicapped by a lack of fitness which the Canadians possessed. It will have to be a very powerful side that defeats our visitors, who may well be expected to improve after a few more matches have been played. Whether the Capitals are beaten or not, it is to be hoped that their visit will have the effect of popular favor.

CRICKET.

WILL HOLD FANCE.

The annual dance of the Victoria Cricket Club will be held in the A. O. U. hall on Friday night. Already a large number of tickets have been sold, and the event promises to be of a very successful character. The tickets can be secured from any member of the club.

THE NEW CLUB.

The newly organized club, known as the Oak Bay Cricket Club, will open its season to-morrow with a practice at Oak Bay. The new concern has a large and growing number of members, and it is anticipated that it will be one of the most successful seasons. At a meeting held on Monday night the following officers were elected: Hon. president, H. K. B. Mitchell; hon. vice-president, J. B. Mitchell; president, W. E. Oliver; vice-president, F. M. Rattenbury; J. A. Virtue and W. Bryce; captain, D. Moxley; secretary-treasurer, P. Richardson; executive committee, L. B. Trimen, James Anderson, W. Sutton, J. S. Murray and C. P. Schwenker.

All those who are interested in cricket and who wish to join the new club should communicate with P. Richardson at the Army and Navy canteen.

TO-NIGHT'S FIGHT.

Uncommon interest centres in the fight slated at Los Angeles for to-night between Jack O'Brien and Tommy Burns. It is practically assured that the winner will meet Bill Riley, the Australian heavyweight champion. Hence pugilistic circles are agog with interest, as since the fight of O'Brien and Burns has been his very presence in the arena as a petus to the ring which has been and is in danger of falling into a state of decadence. Burns and O'Brien will step into the ring to-night at about the same weight, but Burns, that it will be a clean-cut affair with an honest termination in a consummation devoutly to be wished. One thing which points to a spirited engagement is the bitter rivalry which exists between the principals. Each man has put forward a claim to the world's championship, and it is in the nature of the thing that the fight will be a long and lively one.

BASEBALL.

THE OPENING GAME.

On Sunday the opening game of the baseball season will take place at Nanaimo, when a team representing Victoria will play against the local team. Baseball enthusiasts in the city have expressed great satisfaction at the action of the Robertson in undertaking the formation of a team. At one time it seemed that Victoria would have no matches this year owing to a lack of material and a difference of opinion between those interested in the game with regard to the question of importing players. A good solution is forthcoming by the action of B. Robertson in the formation of a team. Regular practice will be commenced at once, and as most of the players in the city are of an improving kind, it is not improbable that the team will make considerable progress before the end of the season.

TUBERCULOSIS.

Interesting Discussion at Convention in Washington—Views of Experts.

Washington, May 7.—Tuberculosis, infection from bovine and other germs, versus infection through human germs, was discussed at length at the annual convention of the National Association for the study and prevention of tuberculosis in annual session. The question was not settled. The proposed plan of appointing a committee to continue the study of that subject.

The question came up at the afternoon session in the section on tuberculosis in children. Several papers were read, and a general discussion followed each. Dr. Chas. Hunter Dunn, of Boston, had for his subject, "Recent advances in the knowledge of the disease in children." In early life, he said, tuberculosis did not affect the lungs as it did in the case of adults, but frequently remained hidden in the internal glands of children, and an acute form of tubercular meningitis or pneumonia caused death. He declared that children had no power to resist these acute tubercular and small babies showed no tendency toward the healing of the lesions.

Coming to the sources of tubercular infection, he said the commonest source was from contaminated milk, and entering the body through the lungs, through the intestines or through the tonsils and the pharynx, and located itself in the nearest gland. In discussing latent forms of the disease he said that the X-ray was the most important means of discovering it.

Dr. Henry L. K. Shaw, of Albany, N. Y., in discussing the question, "The present status of transmissibility of bovine tuberculosis," as illustrated by infants and young children, declared that the usual way of contracting the disease was from contagion of man to man, and not from milk and other foods. That however, he should not be taken to mean a relaxation of the efforts being made to guard against infection by milk.

TORNADO IN TEXAS.

Three Persons Killed and a Dozen Injured—Several Villages Reported Destroyed.

Fort Worth, Tex., May 7.—A storm of wind and rain which was general throughout a considerable area in Northern Texas and which at some places assumed the proportions of a cyclone, according to meagre reports received here, has resulted in the loss of at least three lives and the injury of at least a dozen persons and great damage to crops and stock.

Many villages are believed to have been wiped out, but by the prostration of the crops, it is impossible to obtain an accurate estimate. In Lamar, some twenty miles from Paris, the storm passed northeast cutting a path about 100 yards wide. At Haleburg, in the Red River country, a child and child of an older man were badly hurt.

"The village of Antioch was practically destroyed. Crossed the path of the storm, which was unusually wide, were completely destroyed. The village of Birdwing was destroyed, and it is known that at least 200 persons were killed here."

Near Selma, Texas, a farm house was blown down and two men killed. There were no less than ten tornadoes reported in this town. A house in Lasker, some 100 miles from Paris, was blown down, and reports are coming from all parts of the country of great property loss. Every window in a M. K. & Co. store in Dallas was blown in, and the building had been broken by hail.

WITHOUT INFORMATION.

St. Petersburg, May 7.—The foreign office applies to the war office for information as to what grounds, if any, there were for the reported Japanese protests against the non-withdrawal of the Russian troops from Korea, and if the reports remain there, what is the reason for it. The officials profess to have no knowledge of the presence of Russian troops in Korea, and say they supposed that practically all the post-bellum conflict very would be settled by the negotiations now approaching completion.

At a representation of Schiller's "Don Carlos" in Belgrade theatre, the pistol with which Don Carlos should have shot the Marquis de Posa refused to go off, and the disappointed actors fled behind the curtain. Officers of loaded weapons were at once made by several members of the audience.

The height is measured from the level of the lower low water at spring tides. This level corresponds with the datum to which the soundings on the Admiralty chart of Victoria harbor are referred, as closely as can now be ascertained. The time used is Pacific Standard, for the 10th meridian west. It is counted from 12 o'clock, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

The Grand Etang.

The negro guides, driven by the fear of the full moon which would soon rise over the hills to flood the lake and call from its depths the fabled Old, Dreaded Spirit of the Rain, had fled in breathless haste back to the lighted security of St. George. And the party of four, three men and the woman whom they had been powerless to keep back, were approaching the goal of their strange expedition.

Suddenly the path began to fall slightly, and through the nocturnal solitude came to their ears a noise resembling the music of hammers on distant anvils. It was regular, rhythmic, and indubitably metallic, and it pierced the night like a shaft of sound. They all stopped instinctively, and listened.

"What's that?" Tony whispered.

"That," said the captain, "is the blacksmith frogs of the Grand Etang. If you want to know, they'll keep it up all night. You'll soon get used to it."

Five minutes later, Philip stopped. "There you are," he said.

At that moment, the black, awful, mysterious, utterly reflecting the faint constellations of the sky above. The rays of the moon's light seemed to glance off it, sparkling, as a lance might glance off impenetrable armor, leaving the darkness inviolate and terrifying. In the distance of the lake, great fires darted, flashed their intermittent signals, and trailing over the surface of the pool, touched the night.

"That's the play of the phosphorescence of the water," said the captain, "and the accompaniment of the frogs' loud and incessant piping, was like nothing else in human experience. It caused the adventure to forget for a moment even the adventure, and to huddle themselves before the secret works of the Mother, which she performs in far places for herself alone. Save the flies and the frogs, there was naught but sleeping life. The huge, moveless fronds of palm trees bordered the lake, and round about, felt rather than discovered, rose the gigantic peaks and shoulders of encircling hills. Eastwards a dim pallor heralded the climbing moon.

The party hesitated as it were, confounded by the immensity--and the mystery of the theatre in which they stood like insignificant pygmies.

"I say, old man," said Tony, addressing Philip, "we might as well have waited till to-morrow, eh? Except that it's worth coming to see."

"To-morrow we might have been too late," Philip answered. "I'm certain that whatever Pollexfen means to do, he means to do to-night. He is somewhere about with Coco."

"I don't see any signs of them," said Tony. "How are we going to look for them?"

"There is only one way to look for them. That is to make the circuit of the lake. The moon moves that way."

"Rather like looking for an escape of gas with a lighted candle," Tony remarked reflectively.

"That's as you please," said Philip. "We've not got a great advantage over Pollexfen. We're expecting him, but he isn't expecting us. He thinks I'm safe in the White Rose. You have a revolver, and you can shoot straight, can't you? You used to be able to, anyhow. As a matter of fact, there's no need to be any shooting. All we have to do is to keep an eye on the things of our precious friend. That's perfectly peaceful, surely. Now the first thing is to go round the lake."

are here, and just enjoy himself, by running round in front of us, we may be at it all night, and no nearer in the morning."

"Well, divide into two parties," said Philip quickly, "and go opposite ways, and meet at the other side. Of course, we must keep our lanterns dark."

"And how are we to divide?"

"You and the captain will go together," Philip ingeniously replied with a decisive air. "Stick to the shore, no matter how quiet you can be. It is agreed?"

"Yes," from Tony.
